

We can supply you with a complete rod building kit which contains all the components and supplies to build your custom rod.

As we have an extensive selection of components we don't stock 'one-size-fits-all' kits. We prefer to discuss component selection with you so that we can provide a package that suits your needs and allows you to build a truly personalized custom rod.

Contact us and tells us what you're think of building and we'll put together a list of components and supplies to fit your needs.
